Dear John,

Once again, thank you for your support and involvement when buying and selling my Piper Turbo Saratoga. You have in both cases walked the extra mile to get the best out of the situation. Your company has good people and you are all working as a team, inviting the customer to take part.

The service you provide is not counted in minutes but in results. The possibility flying with a professional like Pete added additional value. A highly recommended option!

My case was maybe extra challenging, because buying my own aircraft for flying in the USA, as a non US citizen, had its special problems to overcome. Thanks to your connections and knowledge this was easily solved. I.e. your business has the knowledge dealing with both domestic and International customers.

In buying or selling an aircraft I would recommend anybody to check with Bartelt Aviation first, to get the best of everything. This goes for international customers as well who importantly need guidance and honesty from a company they can trust. There should be more people like you out there.

I will spread the word.....

Your Friend,

Stefan Eriksson
