To Whom it May Concern:

I recently purchased a 2001 Piper Saratoga II TC with John Bartelt of Bartelt Aviation acting as broker. Although I've owned several aircraft in the past this was the first time that a broker had been involved in the process and I was initially a little apprehensive about the extra layer complexity. I think it's fair to say that without his involvement there were many times that the deal would've simply fallen apart! His detailed knowledge of the Saratoga itself, coupled with his knowledge of the pricing and necessity of common maintenance issues allowed both the seller and myself to save many thousands of dollars on the pre-buy inspection. I found him to be incredibly helpful and forthcoming regarding any questions or concerns I had about the process of purchasing the aircraft, as well as any questions about the aircraft itself. I would not hesitate to recommend his services to anyone looking to sell an aircraft or purchase one that he is representing. He was a true pleasure and a gentleman to work with.

Sincerely,
