Subject: Re: Lance

To whom it may concern:

It took me a year to decide to sell my aircraft and it was a tough decision. I had received a letter from Bartelt Aviation inquiring if I would be interested in selling my plane. I put it in my file, 6 months later I decided to sell. I contacted John and asked if he could help in the sale.

John had someone who he thought would be interested so we started the process. John went thru all the logs and inspection and helped in negotiating a fair price. It was a very smooth and easy process from my end. All I can say John was very professional and thorough and I would use his services again should I decide to buy another aircraft.
